Summary of CIISA Standards consultation feedback and how we used it.

CIISA

The Creative Industries
Independent Standards Authority
Independent. Without fear or favour.

Introduction

CIISA carried out an eight-week industry consultation on the CIISA Standards between 2nd December 2024 and 27th January 2025.

During the consultation period, we:

- Conducted an online survey (the Consultation Response Form)
- Hosted three open access webinars for the theatre, music, and film and television professionals respectively
- Hosted separate webinars for members of trade bodies and unions.
- Briefed individual organisations and productions.

The consultation resulted in engagement from over 700 individuals and organisations, with almost 200 meaningful responses on the draft Standards.

This summary captures key feedback on the Standards document, including the introduction, the four Standards and core expectations, and the appendices. It includes feedback given both inside and outside of the main online survey.

Some of the more detailed comments, which are beyond the scope of the high-level Standards framework, will be included in future tailored, practical guidance.

The published Standards are available to download at www.ciisa.org.uk/standards/.

Headline Data:

- 708 individual engagements with the consultation (696 online survey respondents plus 12 responses submitted via email).
- 193 meaningful responses to the consultation (1181 online survey respondents plus 12 responses submitted via email).
- Of the 181 online survey respondents:
 - 67% were self-employed or contract workers
 - 26% responded on behalf of an organisation
 - 67% work in film
 - 65% work in television
 - 24% work in music
 - 61% work in theatre
 - On average, 80% of respondents felt that the expectations in the Standards were clear.¹
 - 76% could see how the CIISA Standards were relevant to them and their experience working in the creative industries.
 - 57% felt that the CIISA Standards were sufficiently clear for them to use in practice.

¹ 'clear' = 'very clear' plus 'somewhat clear' scores

Key Quotes:

Individuals

- “I think this is a great starting point for new projects, just like knowing you’re working on an Albert Sustainable Production before arriving on set gives you an idea of what to expect.” – Costume consultant and puppet maker
- “I have found these definitions [of harmful behaviour] hugely helpful and have looked back at so much of my own lived experience with a different gaze ... Thank you for putting it into words” – Lighting designer
- “I believe the Standards will go a long way to dealing with many obvious concerns, but there will always be subjectivity and context in knowing what a breach looks like.” – Self-employed actor

Organisations

- “The Standards are clear, succinct and written in an accessible language, which we feel is essential [to] ensure that the Standards are widely understood.” – Funding body
- “The standards are rigorous but prevention depends on those who need to engage most acknowledging and adopting the standards.” – Trade union
- “Given an effective execution, the CIISA standards have the potential to deliver on their aspirations and bring about meaningful change.” – Funding body
- “The devil is going to be in the rolling out and implementation and consistent communication. I do think they’re brilliant and want to thank everyone for their hard work and careful consideration of all the issues and scenarios.” – Membership body
